

Upstate New York

Edward G. McNeight Jr.

Upstate New York

Eddie McNeight Jr. started working at the track for his father Ed Sr. as a young boy. In 1976 at the age of twenty, he scored his first win with a mare named Fair Sis and his niche as a catch driver was established. McNeight would be put up by trainers and he would just win, win, win. His success as a driver was so explosive he was nicknamed “Kid Dynamite”.

Some examples of his win production included Pro Testor (42 wins-19 alone in 1980), Sevarno (50 wins) and Jeffrey Drummond, (79 wins-4 years in double digits). He also developed the outstanding trotter Bold Thunder.

McNeight was always busy breeding and racing horses for the New York Sire Stakes. He frequented the fairs developing his young stock as well as competed at every major track in New York State at the top level of stake competition. He won the Hopeful at Buffalo, the WM Reynolds at the Poconos, New York Sire Stakes and finals, as well as competed in the American National at Balmoral Park.

He moved his base of operations from Buffalo to the Meadows in Pennsylvania in 1994 and has been a fixture there ever since.

In his career to date, McNeight won 3,440 races and $9.1 million dollars in purse money.